NEWSLETTER NO. 18

Welcome

We welcome Jedd Oster-Ives and Meg Keenan and their families to Macclesfield School. We hope they enjoy being part of our community.

TERRIFIC Kids

At the end of term, Leela Andrew, Rowan Miles and Kyeisha Guy were acknowledged with TERRIFIC Kids awards. These awards are presented to these students because they demonstrated that they are:

Thoughtful, Enthusiastic, Respectful,
Responsible, Inclusive, Friendly, Inquisitive and Capable.

Our school is generously supported by the Kiwanis Club of the Adelaide Hills for these awards.

Line Marking Re-painted

During the holidays our line marking was refreshed in the school yard.

This means that students are able to use the game grids during play, and teachers are able to use the number grids etc. as resources during lesson time.

Student Wellbeing and Achievement are inseparable

Too often, mental health and academic outcomes are siloed off as separate issues, or even treated as conflicting priorities. So how can school leaders and educators promote a holistic approach to learning and wellbeing?

"Schools often feel that they have to decide between supporting young people's mental health or academic learning but the two domains are inseparable," she says.

"We know that children with greater wellbeing and lower levels of mental health problems achieve higher achievement scores, better attendance, and drop out of school less often."

She says that "a program for problem approach" to such issues – such as separate programs for bullying, for healthy eating, for respectful relationships, for literacy and so on are not the answer, and often place unnecessary pressure on educators.

"This can be overwhelming and time consuming, and is, in the end, not very efficient. We need a unified, holistic approach for supporting children's needs"

With this in mind, she suggests measures that can be taken by schools committed to a holistic approach:

- a comprehensive, quality curriculum that is engaging, relevant and where children are challenged but also experience success;
- accommodations made as required to make instruction accessible to all students;
- strong and evidence-based instructional strategies;
- teachers caring for students and knowing something about them, but also establishing clear boundaries and guidelines for behaviour;
- non-stigmatising strategies for identifying and supporting students who are experiencing academic, behavioural and/or social and emotional difficulties;
- dedicated lessons on mental health issues so children learn about the signs of mental health, and what to do if they or others experience these; and
- dedicated lessons on mental health issues so children learn about the signs of mental health, and what to do if they or others experience these; and
- opportunities for children to learn various social and emotional skills – including but not limited to problem solving, conflict resolution, perseverance, how to manage stress, how to make friends, asking for help and so on. These skills help students get on with others but are also applicable for academic learning. All teachers can do this, regardless of what year level or subject area they teach.

Character Strength

Teamwork

(loyalty, citizenship)

With the strength of teamwork and loyalty you excel as a member of a group. Loyal and dedicated, you do your share and work hard for the success of the group. At a broader level, your strength of citizenship gives you a sense of responsibility, or duty, to a common group that stretches beyond your personal interest.

If you have the strength of teamwork...

- You work at your best when you are in a group, putting the group's needs before your own.
- You feel a responsibility to improve the world you live in and make it a better place for future generations.
- You give up your time for the good of your town (or country).
- It's important to you personally to help others who are in difficulty or in need.

Monadenia Orchid Weeding

On Monday 22nd Oct. Our Year 2/3 class, along with Sue Bradstreet from the Macclesfield Bushcare group and some of our school class, ventured to the Day Paddock to remove the weed orchids which grow there.

Between them they managed to remove 328 of them. This has a significantly positive impact on the environment.

We are also very grateful for opportunities to work with community groups in this way.

Remembrance Day Assembly

Next Friday's assembly will be held at Macclesfield ANZAC Memorial Gardens from 10.45am to commemorate Remembrance Day (11/11/18).

Students have been given consent forms to walk to the gardens and we invite you to join us.

Dennis Oldenhove will lead our time there.

This assembly will replace the assembly usually held in the afternoon.

Year 2/3

In History we have begun to investigate celebrations around the world, beginning with Diwali. We learnt this is a festival of light celebrated in India. Then we made traditional shaped and decorated Diyas (candle holders).

Our learning intention was to learn about Diwali. Our success criteria was to record in our books what we learnt.

We have been practising our concert item and the students are having fun learning the actions.

In maths we have been learning about 2D shapes and investigating how different shapes can be combined to make new shapes.

The learning intention for this particular lesson was to create as many different shapes using the pattern blocks. The success criteria was being able to combine different shapes to make another shape and name the newly created shape.

This week we welcomed some silkworms into our classroom. We discovered what they eat and we are looking forward to watching them grow and investigating their life cycle.
