Hi there,

I have been at the School Ministries Conference this week, it has been an insightful week with inspiring key note speaker Mark McCrindle whose time is spent researching the emerging generations trends to better understand their worldview and how to effectively communicate with gen Z, attended DECD updates and information sessions, had great access to resources, attended electives with different services providers and wellbeing programs and enjoyed food glorious food.

Can I leave with you a few statements that were said by the different presenters during my week:

- Kerry - CPSW

  A smile is a friendship magnet

- If you haven't been scared, then you haven't been brave.
- Hope is more powerful than a wish.
- We only have control of our feelings and not the choices of others.
- It's what we say to ourselves after a conversation that counts.
- Don't put all your hopes into something that you have no control of.
- You can't change problems with the same thinking that created them.
- No one can make us feel inferior without our consent.
- When you open up it lets other in.
- Everything happens for a reason.

If you want to make a difference, choose a different response.

When I change my attitude, I might change my outcome.
